Attachment and Couples

I noticed that the couples I work with get stuck in patterns of blame, criticism, and/or fleeing. All of these are clear signs of disconnection and can be explained with Attachment Theory.

Over the years I have come up with a protocol that works beautifully in practice. One of the systems I implement ( it works and is backed by research) is the other popular EFT - Emotionally Focused Therapy. My husband and I will be sharing our techniques at the first Canada's Tappers Gathering in October (see below). Take the quiz to see how well you are doing with your partner in feeling Accessible, Responsive, and Engaged-the hallmarks of a well-connected relationship.

They're Ready!

After months of recording, editing, and processing the CDs are here! Two of the most important topics to grasp as an EFTer are that of Shifting Aspects, and Psychological Reversals. Mastering each one will take your success rate up to the 90th percentile and beyond. In each of these audios you will here us speak on the topic, give clear examples, and experience a live demonstration with a volunteer.

EFT Forums & EFT for Women on Facebook

As some of you may know I have been a moderator on Gary Craig's emofree WomenWise forum for a few years. With his retirement the forum is now hosted at the EFT Masters site and I am still answering your questions there on women's issues.
